

Financial Planning Days for Santa Rosa Fire Survivors

Do you have financial questions coming up?

Financial decisions to be made?

Certified Financial Planner® volunteers are offering their time to help Santa Rosa residents get back on their feet after the dramatic firestorms. If you have never worked with a Financial Planner, a recent article from the New York Times, describes the benefits of having an independent financial sounding board when making financial decisions. All advice is free and no business cards will be distributed.

Want to know more about the Financial Planning Assn and our Financial Planning Days around the Bay? Please visit us at BAFPD.org. You will find suggestions on documents to bring to your planning session.
